December Commentary

The Trust produced a Net Asset Value total return of -1.8% during the month and a price total return of -1.4%, compared to a return of -1.8% for the Lipper Global – Equity Global Income Index.

Over the year the Trust returned +9.2% (NAV) and a price total return of +9.7% compared the Lipper Global – Equity Global Income Index which returned +10.0%.

As is often the case it was a year of two halves. Relative returns were constrained for the first 6 months of the year but recovered somewhat as the year progressed. The top three contributors over the 12 months were British American Tobacco which rose by +37.2%, Philip Morris up +34.7% (in Sterling) and Unilever which climbed by +23.7%. The shares of each company had been deeply out of favour at the beginning of the year reminding one that sometimes the most uncomfortable holdings generate the best returns.

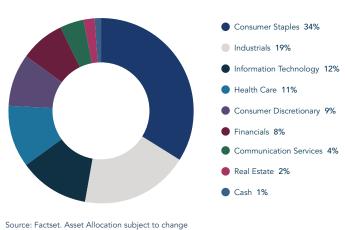

Conversely two of the key detractors were Pernod Ricard and Nestle. Both companies have been excellent long-term compounders of shareholder capital but have been disappointing since May 2023. Valuations achieved at that time proved to be unsustainable. As the COVID boom has waned and concerns have appeared around end demand from changing consumer tastes and the adoption of weight-loss drugs, the shares have derated. In each case we think that the current valuations give protection against these worries which although valid, are unlikely to negate the long-term competitive advantages and opportunities these companies enjoy in our view.

2025 promises to be an interesting year as the positive and negative effects of the Trump agenda play out in markets. While equity markets so far have been upbeat, rising bond yields appear to represent an increasing risk to equity valuations.

The Q4 dividend, paid on 17th January 2025, was declared at 1.586p. The total distribution for 2024 was 6.662p which represents an increase of 4.0% relative to 2023, reflecting the robustness of the portfolio's income generation notwithstanding uncertainty over the near term outlook.

Please refer to Troy's Glossary of Investment terms here. Performance data relating to the NAV is calculated net of fees with income reinvested unless stated otherwise. Past performance is not a guide to future performance. Overseas investments may be affected by movements in currency exchange rates. The value of an investment and any income from it may fall as well as rise and investors may get back less than they invested. The historic yield reflects distributions declared over the past twelve months as a percentage of the Trust's price, as at the date shown. It does not include any preliminary charge and investors may be subject to tax on their distributions. Tax legislation and the levels of relief from taxation can change at any time. The yield is not guaranteed and will fluctuate. There is no guarantee that the objective of the investments will be met. Investment trusts may borrow money in order to make further investments. This is known as "gearing". The effect of gearing can enhance returns to shareholders in rising markets but will have the opposite effect on returns in falling markets. Shares in an Investment Trust are listed on the London Stock Exchange and their price is affected by supply and demand. This means that the share price may be different from the NAV.
